Briefly description of the system

This is a smart point of sales systems that allow Cashiers to scan the products of the customers and as the customer scan the item using it barcode it will reduce stock. If the stock reaches a certain amount it will automatically send the email to the supplier of that product saying that we are running out of stock, please supply us with another stock.

They are also supervisors who manage products, employees, suppliers so they can add new products, new employees, void for Cashier, so basically Supervisor manages everything in the system.
